

GACD Implementation Science e-Hub updates (August 2021, No. 2)

New e-Hub v4.0 at a glance

Check out all of our recent updates, including the implementation science overview page and key publications page. In addition, we have added a summary page of WHO implementation resources. Please take a look!

New case studies coming soon – could your project be one?

We are currently finalizing a case study template to highlight fabulous examples of implementation science projects around the world. The purpose of the template is to introduce examples of different projects, highlight features of the research that teams have undertaken and summarize their learnings. The new template with an example will be published in our e-Hub on the 'case studies' page shortly and you will also be able to download the template. If you would like to volunteer to showcase your project on our e-Hub, please get in touch with Kevin Mao (kmmao@student.unimelb.edu.au).

2021 GACD Implementation Science School coming this November!

The GACD Implementation Science School will be held again online in November 2021! We will update more details in due course. Feel free to share this with your networks.

Researcher spotlight interviews

We are currently interviewing implementation scientists - ranging from researchers just starting out in their careers to international experts - in order to find out about their experiences and advice for others. We look forward to sharing these on the e-Hub. Would you like to be interviewed? We are looking for implementation scientists at all stages of their careers – please get in touch with Kevin Mao (kmmao@student.unimelb.edu.au) if you would like to share your journey with others.
